REFERRAL TO GOVERNMENT

On November 18, 2019, pursuant to its ongoing, independent monitoring of advertising and marketing claims in the direct selling industry, DSSRC sent Dose of Nature its opening letter in which DSSRC identified the aggressive product performance claims stated above that are disseminated on the social media pages of certain Dose of Nature distributors regarding the efficacy of its CBD product to treat severe health related conditions in humans and to provide health benefits to pets and animals.

Pursuant to the DSSRC Policies and Procedures, the Company was provided fifteen (15) business days to respond to DSSRC following its receipt of the DSSRC November 18, 2019 opening letter. Unfortunately, the Company failed to respond to DSSRC’s initial correspondence. Subsequently, after repeated attempts to contact the Company by telephone and email, DSSSRC sent a follow up letter to the Company on January 7, 2020 expressing its concerns with the claims identified in DSSRC’s opening letter and requesting substantiation for such claims on or before January 22, 2020. However, despite DSSRC’s ongoing attempts to contact the Company, it again failed to respond to DSSRC’s inquiry.

Section (D)(I)(9) of the DSSSRC Policies & Procedures states that if a company does not respond to DSSRC, or declines to participate in the DSSRC process, DSSRC will issue a case decision indicating that the company was unresponsive or declined to participate in the DSSRC process and may refer the matter to appropriate government agencies.

Accordingly, based upon the aggressive nature of the product performance claims at issue and the failure of the Company to respond to DSSRC, this matter has been referred to the Federal Trade Commission pursuant to the DSSSRC Policies & Procedures.
